Engineers Hit Order Of Board

NEW YORK (AP) — Much of the nation's vast air travel network, hit by a wildcat strike of a relatively small union, faltered today toward a standstill.

Operations of leading airlines were cut to a fraction.

The staggering effects, building up from a four-day walkout of flight engineers, forced one of the most widespread shutdowns in commercial aviation history.

Across the country, airlines began laying off employes in a mounting tide that was expected to reach about 65,000 by the day's end, if the strike continues.

The union itself, the light Engineers International Union, has 3,500 members.

Their strike was aimed at six airlines, including most of the large ones: American, Pan American, Trans World, Eastern, National and Western.

Almost completely knocked out were their long-distance, big-plane flights, on which engineers were required. A few got off the ground, using supervisory personnel as substitutes.

Generally, service was cut to 15 per cent of normal, or less. Thousands of stranded passengers sought alternate means of transportation, or turned to other domestic airlines, not involved in the strike.

These were mainly lines providing service on a short-hop basis, with twin-engine planes.

The engineers are protesting a Feb. 6 decision by the National Mediation Board ordering them and another union, the Air Lines Pilots' Association, to hold an election for a single bargaining agent.

The engineers, outnumbered by pilots, claim the decision could wipe out their union—and possibly their jobs.

Meanwhile, the strike produced growing paralysis for the airlines.

In New York alone, more than 600 flights, involving about 50,000 passengers, were canceled today. Hundreds of other flights, and thousands of other passengers elsewhere, were affected.

Pan American ordered a complete worldwide shutdown at noon, and furloughing all its 20,000 employes.

American said it was beginning

NEWSROOM NOTES — A "coffee break" report meeting is scheduled Tuesday at 10 a.m. to learn the results of the first week of the Dixon Chamber of Commerce membership drive for 1961.

All interested persons are invited to attend the meeting in the Trail Room of the Nachusa House as the various teams report their progress.

A real effort is being made to broaden the base of Chamber participation. The greater the membership the more effective the work of creating a better Dixon will be.

Most Dixonites are agreed that to this point we have enjoyed a pleasant winter. We only remember having to shovel the walks three times. But when the statistics are counted, we've actually had a colder winter than that misery we went through a year ago. Northern Illinois Gas Co., which keeps track of such things, says December of 1960 was 36 per cent colder than December of 1959, and January this year was 13 per cent colder than a year ago.

Rabies cases increased in Illinois during 1960, according to a report from the Illinois Department of Public Health. There were 84 cases of animal rabies confirmed in the state. The previous year there were 60 confirmed cases.

The department distributed 899 Pasteur treatments in 1960, compared with 812 the previous year.

The more unusual cases in 1960 included a guinea pig, a field mouse and a goat, all discovered to be rabid.

6 Lumumbists Reported Slain

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold announced in the U.N. Security Council today that six associates of the slain Congo leader Patrice Lumumba had been executed in secessionist Kasai.

Hammarskjold's declaration touched off a storm of protests, and the 11-nation body adjourned until 3 p.m. to permit consultations among the shocked delegates.

The Soviet Union quickly blamed the secretary-general for the new political killings.

The adjournment was proposed by Liberian Delegate George Padmore and backed by Chief U.S. Delegate Adlai E. Stevenson. A meeting of Asian-African nations was called for need to consider possible action.

Hammarskjold said he had received confirmation of the slayings from his special representative in the Congo, Indian diplomat Rejeshwar Dayal, who previously had reported fears for the safety of the pro-Lumumba group.

Slain Men

The slain men were among seven transferred earlier this month to Kasai Province by Congo President Joseph Kasavubu. Lumumba himself was slain after being transferred to secessionist Katanga Province by Kasavubu.

Hammarskjold protested vigorously against the latest slayings. He said the action was "humiliating and corroding to the United Nations."

The secretary-general gave no details, but said an aide of Albert Kalonji, president of South Kasai, had told Dayal the six were dead.

The dead included Jean Finant, ex-president of Oriental Province; a Maj. Fataki, former commander of the Stanleyville gerdarmarie; the president of Lumumba's youth movement, Nzuzi; and three men named Muzungu, Elengesa and Yangara.

Stevenson

Stevenson said the latest developments emphasized the necessity for urgent and effective action.

Soviet Delegate Valerian A. Zorin said Hammarskjold cannot "escape responsibility for what he should have averted under the original resolutions of the Security Council."

Zorin demanded the immediate arest of Maj. Gen. Joseph Mobutu, chief of state of Kasavubu's armed forces, and Moise Tshombe, president of Katanga Province.

Nab Dixon Youth for Stealing 18 Cases Beer

A 17-year-old Dixon youth Sunday evening was charged with the theft of 18 cases of beer from Cottage Inn, 816 First St., after authorities tracked down the driver of a car which fled police at the breakin scene.

Charged with burglary is Thomas Henry Buckley, 17, Rt. 1, Dixon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Buckley. He was released on $5,000 bond set by Police Magistrate Lawrence Boos.

Not Home

Buckley, who was not at home when police tracing the license number talked with his parents, was brought in by the parents when he returned.

Police said the Buckley youth's compact car was in the driveway of the Inn's entrance when the breakin was discovered by Merchant Policeman Dewey Gilbert.

Gilbert attempted to block off the driveway's entrance with his auto, but the youth drove over a curb and escaped, also eluding a squad car coming west on First Street which turned around and gave chase.

After the youth eluded police, Patrolman Richard Dusing and Sgt. Robert McCoy traced the license number and went to the youth's home on Alt. Rt. 30, about five miles west of Dixon, but found the youth had not yet arrived at the residence.

Entry Gained

Entry at the Inn was gained by using a tire iron to break a window, reaching in and breaking a padlock off the door with the iron.

Eighteen cases of beer taken in the breakin were recovered from a farm field near Como where police said the youth had left them.

Eighteen cases of six different brands of beer were taken from the Inn, and police also found two cases containing several quart bottles and six-packs along with the stolen merchandise. Source of the other two cases has not been determined.

Backyard Salvage

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — When another automobile careened off a curve into his front yard Sunday, the outraged Rev. E. J. Steele decided to keep the car — at least for a while. The Rev. Steele said it was the fifth car to crash into his yard in 2½ years.

Kennedy's Plan Asks $5.7 Billion

Three Year Program For Classrooms or Teachers' Salaries

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy today proposed a $5.7 billion aid-to-education program designed to set "a new standard of excellence in education" available "to all who are willing and able to pursue it."

In a special message to Congress, the President called for:

A three-year program of outright grants to the states for use in building classrooms or raising teachers' salaries. It would provide an average of $19.75 for each child in average daily attendance in public elementary and secondary schools the first year, increasing to an average of $24.22 the third year. Total cost: $2.3 billion.

A five-year program of college scholarships, averaging $700 each with an additional $350 to colleges and universities for each scholarship winner enrolled. There would be 25,000 scholarships the first year, 37,500 the second, and 50,000 thereafter. Total cost: $577.5 million.

Continuation of the 10-year-old program of long-term, low-interest loans to colleges and universities for dormitory construction, at a rate of $250 million a year for five years. Total cost: $1.3 billion.

Establishment of a similar loan program for the construction of college classrooms, libraries, laboratories and other academic facilities, at the rate of $300 million a year for five years. Total cost: $1.5 billion.

No funds were recommended for constructing schools or paying church school teachers' salaries. But no distinction was made between public and private institutions regarding college scholarships and loans to colleges.

The President told Congress,

School Race Assured With 4 Candidates

A contest in the Dixon school election was assured today with the addition of two names to the list of candidates. Four men now seek the three openings to be filled by the April 4 voting.

Eugene Goddard, manager of the Raynor Manufacturing plant, and Robert Hofmann, who heads an engineering firm, are the latest to file petitions of nomination. Both have served on the school district's Citizen-Teacher Curriculum Committee.

Candidates who filed Saturday morning were John Culley and Sidney Buckaloo.

None of the three incumbents — William Wolf, Lyle Melvin and Stella Grobe—has indicated whether he will seek reelection.

How Illinois Fares

WASHINGTON (AP)—Here's how Illinois public schools would fare under the $5.7-billion aid-to-education proposed to Congress by President Kennedy:

Illinois would be allocated about 1,322 scholarships averaging $700 each, totaling $932,400, in the fiscal year ending in 1962. The number of scholarships would jump to 9,996, worth $6,997,200, in the fiscal year 1966.

Illinois would receive $23,310,000 for classroom construction and-or teaching salaries in the fiscal year 1962, averaging $15 per pupil in average daily public school attendance. The figure would rise to $24,060,000 in the fiscal year 1963, and $24,780,000 in the fiscal year 1964.

Message Highlights

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here are key quotations from President Kennedy's message to Congress today on education:

"The human mind is our fundamental resource."

"Education must remain a matter of state and local control, and higher education a matter of individual choice."

"We cannot obtain more and better teachers—and our children should have the best—unless steps are taken to increase teachers' salaries."

"A total of 600,000 classrooms must be constructed during the next 10 years."

"In accordance with the clear prohibition of the Constitution, no elementary or secondary school funds are allocated for constructing church schools or paying church school teachers' salaries."

"We must assure ourselves that every talented young person who has the ability to pursue a program of higher education will be able to do so if he chooses, regardless of his financial means."

2,500 Attend City Hall Open House

More than 2,500 persons attended the open house held Sunday at Dixon City Hall to show citizen's the city's newly remodeled fire department quarters and its new fire truck.

Added attractions were the police department and city offices, including the city council room.

Firemen's wives, Mrs. Richard Clayton, Mrs. Oscar Smith, Mrs. Robert Freed, Mrs. Eugene Freil and Mrs. Elwood Cruse, served refreshments of coffee, doughnuts and pop to highly enthusiastic citizens.

Mrs. Ruth Kishbaugh, Mayor George Lindquist's secretary, said everyone seemed to feel the affair was " a howling success," and Fire Chief Gail Keyser agreed.

"Especially the kids," both said. "They loved it."

All city hall quarters were open, with persons employed in the various departments on hand to greet Dixonites and answer questions.

Keyser said he was especially pleased at the large turnout, indicating considerable interest in city affairs on the part of residents.

Walnut Seed Firm Head Killed in Crash

WALNUT—John R. Abbott, Walnut, general manager and owner of Abbott Enterprises, Inc., Walnut, was killed shortly before noon today in a car-truck accident one and one-half miles south of Mendota.

Abbott, a pioneer and long-time leader in seed corn production, was associated with Black and Abbott Seed Corn Co., before he formed his own firm in August, 1960.

An active leader in civic and state affairs, Abbott held degrees from Wisconsin State Teachers' College, the University of Wisconsin and Northwestern University.

He is survived by his wife; a son, John Jr., and three grandchildren.

Kistner Arrested On SEC Violation

★ ★ ★ ★

HAROLD E. KISTNER JR.

SIOUX CITY, Iowa (AP)—Harold E. Kistner Jr., 35, former president of the Northern Biochemical Corp. of Sheldon, was arrested today in connection with a federal grand jury investigation of the company.

Kistner reportedly was indicted last week for violation of Security and Exchange Commission regulations in the alleged sale of Northern Biochemical stock.

Attorney Frank Margolin of Sioux City said Mrs. Kistner called him today and said Deputy U.S. Marshal Robert Dale had arrested her husband. He was being brought to Sioux City from his Sheldon home.

Kistner, dismissed as Northern president last month, was accused in January of aiding and abetting a $2-million embezzlement at the Sheldon National Bank.

U.S. Commissioner W. M. Forker dismissed the charge Jan. 26 on grounds of insufficient evidence.

That charge was the outgrowth of the embezzlement which closed the Sheldon bank. Mrs. Burnice Geiger, 58, former cashier at the bank, was sentenced to 15 years in prison last Friday after pleading guilty to a charge of embezzlement.

Our Dixon Public Schools: Part 7

School Finance Problem Is Built In

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the seventh in a series of articles picturing the Dixon public schools and their current problems.

By ROBERT NELLIS
Telegraph Staff Writer

If there were no education fund there would be no public school. School buildings would stand idle. School buses would stay in their garages.

If, some night all the school buildings in Dixon should be totally destroyed, in a matter of a few days, the schools could be in operation again. The teachers, who have the fund of knowledge to be imparted, would be able to meet with the children in a hundred different places. Books could be found in the public library or other sources. The educational process impaired, could go on. But, if some night all the faculty of the Dixon schools disappeared, not to return, it would take years to rebuild the educational system.

Built-in Problem

There is a built-in problem in school finance. The building funds provide money to build buildings but a separate fund, the education fund, is called upon to equip and staff these buildings. School district voters have regularly been more willing to vote funds to build buildings than they have to provide money in the education fund to carry on the program for which the buildings were designed.

To insure that a school district is willing to meet its obligations in providing teachers and other things necessary to maintain academic quality, as well as to build fine schoolhouses perhaps, there should be one school fund. Then one would not get ahead of the other, or take precedence over the other.

If public education costs too much, the place to have trimmed costs was before fine new buildings, which are an asset to the community from an appearance standpoint, were built. A board of education cannot dispose of buildings, but it can increase the pupil-teacher ration, can be limited in the amount spent for teachers' salaries and can eliminate special teachers. Curtailment will always hurt the quality of education of a school more than classrooms and other parts of the system. These costs are more fixed and do not admit to reduction.

Current Ratios

The classroom teacher-student ratio in Dixon elementary schools this year is 28 to 1 and in the high school, 20 to 1. In general, educators consider the teacher-pupil ratio should not be higher than 26 to 1 in grade school and 18 to 1 in high school for quality education.

The changes in the education fund in Dixon since 1954 are a distillation of the effects of a greater school population, inflationary tendencies in costs and expanded facilities.

Education fund expenditures in 1954 were $772,182, in 1959, this had risen to $1,488,524 and this year are budgeted to be $1,565,124. The 1959-

Feed Grain Plans Need Quick Action

By OVID A. MARTIN

WASHINGTON (AP)—Farm legislation may well provide President Kennedy with the first major test of his administration's strength in Congress.

The test may not come so much on what Congress does with his legislative proposals as on the speed or lack of it with which it acts.

A feed grain program sent to Capital Hill last week carried a Kennedy plea for approval by March 1. Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman was a little more generous. He said action was needed by March 15 at the latest.

Feed Grains

This program would be designed to cut down on production of surplus feed grains by withdrawing land from production of these crops and by diverting some of it to soybeans to produce vegetable oils to meet foreign food-for-peace promises.

Unless Congress approves this program by mid-March, it might as well forget it. There would be insufficient time after that to put the program into operation before farmers planted spring crops. In fact, some feed grain producers in extreme southern parts of the country already are plowing or planting corn and other grains.

The government also needs some time after Congress approves the plan to get it before individual farmers.

Price Supports

The program has many administrative details, the least of which is determination on each farm's production base—the acreage from which it would have to reduce plantings at least 20 per cent to get price supports.

Farmers themselves are already at the time where they must make decisions on purchase of seed, fertilizer and other supplies. Some already have made their purchases.

Delayed congressional approval of the feed grain program could be embarrassing to the admintration. It has stuck its neck out to project higher price supports for feed grains and soybeans—increases it might feel obliged to withhold or later if the program is approved too late to become effective.

Grange Labels Freeman

WASHINGTON (AP) — Many farm leaders are wondering if Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman will turn out to be what's termed a liberal, moderate or conservative on government farm policies.

He had been generally classed before his appointment as a liberal even an ultra-liberal by some.

But take it from the National Grange, one of the major national farm organizations, the new secretary has given the impression that he is "moderately liberal." It so describes him in a letter to its members.

Belgians to Reduce Feed Grain Imports

WASHINGTON (AP) — Belgium has taken steps to encourage its farmers to produce more feed grains so that imports might be reduced. The action would adversely affect shipments from the United States.

Belgium has increased import license taxes on these grains. The tax on corn and sorghum grain has been raised from 40 to 61 cents a bushel, oats from 29 to 39 cents and barley from 51 to 68 cents.

Japanese Soybean Supply Short

WASHINGTON (AP) — Prospects for increasing exports of soybeans to Japan this year appear favorable, Agriculture Department officials report.

Japan's own crop is expected to total only around 13.5 million bushels, the smallest since 1949. It produced nearly 20 million bushels in the early 1950s.

Rolled Oats To Nation's Needy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rolled oats to be processed from government-owned surplus stocks will be added to the list of surplus foods donated to the nation's needy.

The Agriculture Department has asked processors to submit bids for processing and packaging the oats for relief distribution. Other foods on the list include wheat flour, corn meal, butter, rice, nonfat dry milk, dried eggs, dry beans, lard, peanut butter, and canned pork and gravy.

1960 GNP Hits Record $500 Billion

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Commerce Department announced Sunday the gross national product reached a record total of $503.2 billion last year.

The amount was almost the same as had been estimated earlier. However, the annual rate in the October-December quarter was $503.5 billion compared with a peak annual rate of $505 billion in the April-June quarter.

Gross national product is the value of all goods and services produced in the nation. In 1959 it was $482.1 billion.

Legislators Oppose Red China in U.N.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A majority of the House and Senate have signed a statement opposing U.S. recognition of Red China or seating Red China in the United Nations.

This was announced today by "The Committee of One Million (against the Admission of Communist China to the United Nation" which circulated the statement among members of Congress.

Listed as endorsers were 54 senators and 295 representatives, split almost evenly by party, 165 Democrats and 174 Republicans.

The statement signed by them said:

"We continue to oppose the seating of Communist China in the United Nations, thus upholding international morality and keeping faith with the thousands of American youths who gave their lives fighting Communist aggression in Korea.

Defies Word, Deed

"To seat a Communist China which defies, by word and deed, the principles of the U. N. charter would be to betray the letter, violate the spirit and subvert the purpose of that charter.

"We further continue to oppose United States diplomatic recognition or any other steps which would build the power and prestige of the Chinese Communist regime to the detriment of our friends and allies in Asia and of our national security.

"Any such action would break faith with our dead and the unfortunate Americans still wrongfully imprisoned by Communist China and would dishearten our friends and allies in Asia whose continued will to resist Communist China's pressures and blandishments is so vital to our own security interests in that part of the world."

Committee

The committee of one million is headed by Warren R. Austin, former Vermont senator and ambassador to the U.N., and Joseph C. Grew, former ambassador to Japan. Its steering committee includes Sens. Paul H. Douglas, D-Ill., and Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., and Reps. Walter H. Judd, R-Minn., and Francis E. Walter, D-Pa.

Among endorses of the statement was a majority of the members of the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations and the House Committee on Foreign Affairs. They included these Midwestern officers:

Sens. Homer E. Capehart, R-Ind., Bourke B. Hickenlooper, R-Iowa, Stuart Symington, D-Mo., and Alexander Wiley, R-Wis.; and Reps. Robert B. Chiperfield, R-Ill., Marguerite S. Church, R-Ill., William T. Murphy, D-Ill., E. Ross Adair, R-Ind., and Clement J. Zablocki, D-Wis.

NATIVE HABITAT

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A tourist wishing to see Seminole Indians in their natural environment drove to a village on Tamiami Trail.

He saw no Indians but heard laughter coming from one of the thatched huts. Peering inside he found a group of Seminoles watching television.

Labor Asks Hike in Relief Bills

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Organized labor's high command is expected to demand today that Congress put an emergency label on President Kennedy's proposals to give extra relief to the unemployed.

Regular winter sessions of the AFL-CIO executive council opened here amid concern over the lagging economy and an idle worker total counted at nearly 5½ million.

The union chiefs said that unless fast aid is forthcoming the recession could turn into a deep depression. The Steelworkers Union said in a weekend statement that conditions in their half-idle industry already have reached the depression stage.

As a first order of business, the AFL-CIO Council was to voice a demand that Congress bypass its ordinary procedures to quicken action on Kennedy's $1.2 billion temporary aid plan for idled workers and their dependent children.

The resolution was said to point out that if the nation's regular unemployment compensation system was adequate there would be no need to take special bolstering steps as was needed in the 1958 recession and again now.

The appraisal of the union chiefs, with one month gone by since Kennedy's inauguration, is that his recommendations so far are a step in the right direction but do not meet union goals. There has been some business criticism that Kennedy is going too far.

Arthur J. Goldberg, secretary of labor in the Kennedy Cabinet, is due here Tuesday to confer with the AFL-CIO Council. He is expected to advise his former union colleagues to keep their shirts on until Kennedy has had a chance to develop his political position in Washington.

Goldberg formerly was a special counsel for the AFL-CIO and attorney for many of the federation's unions, including the Steelworkers.

Council to Get 'Hot Potato' Housing-for-Elderly Issue

Mayor George Lindquist is about to place the "hot potato" housing-for-the-elderly project squarely before the city council.

Lindquist Tuesday will introduce an ordinance to rezone the old North Central School site for Lee County Housing Authority's proposed low-cost housing for senior citizens.

The Housing Authority has wanted the site for some time and seems determined to have its way. Residents of the area are equally determined—they don't want the project in their neighborhood and have made no bones about it.

"Best Interests"

Lindquist said he is introducing the ordinance because he feels it is in the best interests of the community and that the community is in favor of it.

"Many, many people have told me they favor it. I think it will benefit the community and that this is what the community wants," he said.

The council, if it passes the ordinance, will be overruling not only objections of residents in the area, but the Dixon Plan Commission, which vetoed rezoning the North Central site on the ground it amounted to spot zoning, and the advice of Evert Kincaid Associates, city planners, who concurred with the Plan Commission.

"And it is spot zoning," the mayor agreed. "And the Commission has a right to veto it.

Recommendation

"But this is a special circumstance. And the council not only has the right to overrule the planning commission's recommendation — and that's all it was—but I think it is in the best interests of the community to do so.

"Besides, the old North Central site has not yielded any revenue to the city for years. The building on the property is deteriorating and its condition is getting dangerous."

Controversary over the project's site started right after St. Anne's Catholic Church, current owners of the property, presented a rezoning request to the council on Oct. 25, stating an option to purchase the property had been granted to Lee County Housing Authority.

Asked Rezoning

The petition asked that it be rezoned from R4, two-family dwelling, to R5, multiple-family dwellings.

Bounced from one public body to another, the project was batted from city commissioners to Dixon Plan Commission to Evert Kincaid Associates to Lee County Housing Authority and back to city commissioners.

Residents of the area have vigorously—and in some cases, bitterly—protested the move. They raised questions concerning availability of alternate sites and actual need for such housing, as well as claiming the change to multiple-dwelling would cause a decrease in property values in the neighborhood and the fact that the project was to be low-rent housing, thus, they said, would further depress values.

Traffic Question

Their attorney, Richard Keller, also said the 28 units would bring up the matter of traffic congestion and that residents feared the "spot zoning" would lead to other similar rezoning requests.

Keller asked if there weren't "areas in the community in which such a project would bring a definite improvement in land values.

After both the Housing Authority and objectors voiced their opinions at a public meeting, the Plan Commission voted to deny the request on spot zoning grounds.

According to Frank C. Sproul, Housing Authority chairman, this particular site is near grocery stores, churches and somewhat near the business district, within relatively easy walking distance.

He said he could not see that a beautiful, substantial building restricted to elderly persons with limited incomes would detract from a neighborhood. Residents would not be an undesirable class of people, he said.

Another Argument

Other advocates of building the $300,000, 28-unit project on the school site have said the elderly should not be zoned into isolation on the outskirts of the city or into rundown areas.

The United States Public Housing Administration already has advanced funds for preliminary planning of the project and stands ready to furnish the remainder of money needed, up to $300,000, according to Sproul.

Lindquist said the Housing Authority can go ahead right now and be within the law — by building 11 or 12 duplex buildings on the site.

Edwin Merrick, Plan Commission chairman, said the board based its decision on spot zoning grounds and what would be best for the city as a whole, and not on the fact that 100 area residents signed petitions protesting the change.

Merrick at that time, the end of December, said the council could overrule the Planning Commission decision and okay the zoning change, or, if it did not, St. Anne's could take the case to the Board of Zoning Appeals.

The Housing Authority last Tuesday informed the council it did not find two alternate sites investigated suitable and that it believed the present program reservation with the Public Housing Administration would be dropped by the regional office in Chicago and assigned to other cities, unless it could be assured a suitable location is available now.

Fire Reformatory Head for Brutality

CHICAGO (AP)—The chairman of the Illinois Youth Commission today fired Clarence J. Farber, superintendent of the Sheridan State Training School, and asked the legislature to investigate charges of brutality at the institution.

Oliver J. Keller Jr., Springfield, commission chairman, announced that Farber will be succeeded temporarily by A. M. Monahan, snuperintendent of the State Training School for Boys at St. Charles.

Keller said he will appear before the General Assembly subcommittee to visit panel institutions in Springfield Wednesday to present data about an investigation into conditions at Sheridan. The committee is headed by Sen. Dwight P. Friedrich, R-Centralia.

Other Suspensions

In addition to firing Farber, Keller suspended the following from their posts at Sheridan: Capt. Melvin Bryant, Capt. Walter Bayer, and Sergeants John Farrar, Nick Mellas, Gene Miller and school principal Ray Farber.

About 300 delinquent boys are confined at Sheridan, a maximum security institution.

Keller said the investigation of brutality charges at Sheridan was touched off by Madison County Judge Michael Kinney, Kinney informed the commission that the parents of a Collinsville youth had complained their son was mistreated.

Keller said the investigation had been going on for six months. He said an investigation by the Youth Commission's chief investigator, Paul Terril, had been completed Feb. 7 and a complete report had been made to Gov. Otto Kerner on Saturday.

"The governor wholeheartedly supported the action of the youth commission," Keller declared.

Keller said Terril had interviewed at least 18 youths on parole regarding conditions at Sheridan and that each of the interviews was conducted separately.

Keller added that Terril has the names of four or five former Sheridan employes who would be willing to testify before a Senate subcommittee regarding conditions at Sheridan.

"The youth commission has no power to subpoena, but I am hopeful that the Senate sub-committee will subpoena witnesses," Keller said.

Clarence Farber has been superintendent at Sheridan for 10 years.

Keller said Terril took testimony from parolees selected at random from a list in the commissioner's Chicago office. Keller said the youths had offered to take lie detector tests, because they might be considered discredited witnesses because of their records.

Keller told newsmen that he felt that as the administrative officer of a large state agency "I feel it my duty to inform the press and the public and not make the press dig for information."

Monahan, a former sheriff of Kankakee County, was notified to take temporary supervision of the Sheridan school Sunday night. Paul Burris, asst. warden of Stateville penitentiary, and a lieutenant of guards from the prison also were sent to Sheridan.

This morning a 10-man detail of state police took posts at the school gates to bar entry to those fired and suspended.

Nab Youth After Auto Theft, Breakin

OREGON—A 12-year-old Chicago youth, a resident of Lowden's Boys Camp near Oregon, Sunday night ran away from the camp, stole a car, wrecked it, and was caught after breaking into a Chana tavern.

Ogle County Sheriff Ed Lang said today that the youth admitted walking to Oregon Sunday night and stealing a car owned by Fred Roos, Oregon, at about 3 a.m. The keys had been left in the ignition of the vehicle, which was parked in front of the Catholic Church in Oregon.

The youth said that after taking the car, he drove it to the intersection of the Chana Blacktop and Rt. 64, where he wrecked it. He then took a portable radio from the car and walked into Chana.

After knocking on the door of a tavern in Chana, he climbed to the roof of the building, removed a screen, opened a window and entered the bathroom of the living quarters above the tap.

He was caught there at 7:20 a.m. by the tavern owner. He notified Ogle County Sheriff's authorities, who returned the youth to the boys' camp.

Lang estimated damages to Roos' car at $400 to $500.

Asks . . .

"This is a modest program with ambitious goals."

It does, indeed, fall far short of the recommendations he received from his special task force on education last month, and short even of the aid to education bill which died in Congress last year after passage in the Senate.

Kennedy's proposed grants to the states for classroom construction or teachers' salaries would cost $666 million the first year, $766 million the second, and $866 million the third.

The formula for allotting the federal money is based on the state's total personal income per each child in average daily attendance compared with the national figures.

Ike Attends Church Services

She had been employed the past four years at Dixon State School.

She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Ray Shannon, Dixon; two grandchildren; two sisters, Mrs. James Bales, Dixon, and Mrs. Frances Kane, Los Angeles, Calif., and a brother, Laurence Burke, Chicago.

Funeral services will be held at 9 a.m. Wednesday in Jones Funeral Home and at 9:30 a.m. in St. Patrick's Catholic Church with the Rev. William Boland, pastor, officiating. Burial will be in Oakwood Cemetery.

Friends may call in the funeral home starting at 7 p.m. today.

Tire Stolen

Mrs. Stanley Dusing, 211 E. Fellows St., reported to police this morning that a tire had been taken from her car trunk some time Thursday night. Police said the trunk had been pried open.

Court Upholds

Hood's Lost Status

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court today upheld an order stripping racketeer Frank Costello of New York of U.S. citizenship.

Justice Brennan delivered the 6-2 decision. Justice Douglas wrote a dissenting opinion in which Justice Black joined. Justice Harlan took no part.

At issue was the question whether there was "willful misrepresentation and fraud" when Costello listed himself as a real estate operator in hearings before a naturalization examiner in 1925.

The government contended his real occupation in the Prohibition Era was bootlegging.

U.S. Dist. Judge Archie O. Dawson of New York revoked Costello's citizenship on Feb. 20, 1959, after a long legal fight by the government.

The government charged the 69-year-old underworld figure obtained his citizenship under false pretenses.

Born in Sicily, Costello was brought to the United States when 4 years old. He has been a target of various federal drives against criminal elements. The U.S. Circuit Court in New York approved cancellation of his citizenship on Feb. 17, 1960. At that time Costello was in Atlanta federal penitentiary serving a five-year sentence on conviction of evading $28,000 in income taxes.

Costello's appeal to the Supreme Court questioned that the denaturalization order could stand, saying he actually had been engaged in real estate. The appeal protested also that the order rested in part on evidence "tainted by wiretapping."

60 expenditures were 92.8 per cent greater than in 1954-55.

This increase is shown by principal expenditures from the fund:

	1954-55	1959-60	1960-61 (Budget)
Teacher pay	$573,232	$ 993,774	$1,050,000
Total instruction	604,826	1,029,520	1,085,720
School plant operation	74,995	156,066	166,514
Buses, Nurses, night school, athletics,	32,189	85,139	84,637
Total education	$772,182	$1,434,191	$1,454,124

Changes have occurred in receipts to the education fund during this period: the assessed valuation of the district has increased from $50,879,760 to $85,804,175 in 1959-60. This is an increase of 68.6 per cent.

The voters approved an education fund tax rate increase in 1955. In 1954 the rate was .95 per hundred dollars of property valuation and in 1959-60 the rate was $1.35. This is an increase of 42.9 per cent. Voters in September 1960 defeated a proposal to increase the rate, so it is also in effect for 1960-61.

State aid has long been a factor in education fund income; in 1954 the amount was $167,063 and was 25.25 per cent of the total education fund receipts. This aid had increased to $251,604 in 1959-60, but represented only 15.35 per cent of education fund receipts.

This shows that the district cannot depend on the state to keep pace in helping furnishing the quality of education to which Dixon has become accustomed. State aid has increased over 1954, in dollar amount, 50.6 per cent but has not kept pace with the 92.8 per cent increase in education fund expenses.

Finally, the number of teachers has increased 44.7 per cent during this period and total salaries paid to teachers has increased 73.4 per cent since 1954. Teachers' pay accounts for about 70 per cent of education fund expenditures.

This writer intends to make no judgment, here, whether teachers' salaries are too high. The purpose is to indicate how fixed are education fund expenditures.

The popular conversation is that teachers are not paid enough. It is a fair guess that teachers will not be willing to have their salaries pegged, as long as the rest of us expect to receive raises or increase our income, from whatever source.

When this prospect is added to the fixed costs of maintaining the buildings, which the district has built, it begins to show how small the chance is of any real reduction in education expense. In fact, it rather indicates that an administration's best effort will only retard the mounting cost of education.

WEEKEND BREAKIN—Sgt. Glen Camery holds tire iron used to break into Cottage Inn, 816 First St., Sunday evening, and padlock knocked off door to gain entry. Recovered loot, 18 cases of beer, is in background. A 17-year-old Dixon youth is charged with the burglary.

Sublette Dry Today

SUBLETTE—The village of Sublette is without water today following the breakdown of a pump in the community's wells Sunday night.

The town went dry at 9:30 p.m. Sunday when the pump broke and two milk hauling trucks have been hauling water from Amboy throughout the night to fulfill water needs.

No estimate of how long it will take to fix the broken pump was given. When the pump suffered a similar breakdown last summer, the town was without water for four days.

List No Loot in Compton Breakin

Burglars apparently got nothing at a breakin Sunday evening at the Alexander Lumber Co., Compton.

Lee County Chief Deputy Sheriff John Quest said the breakin was discovered by Chester Eton, Compton, when a man ran out of the firm's office door as Eton walked up to the front door.

Eton left to get help and, when he returned, found a back window had been forced.

Police Court

Police Magistrate Lawrence Boos Saturday afternoon fined Felchner Spotts Jr., 28, 313 Ninth St., $20 and costs for being drunk and disorderly.

Police said Spotts was arrested at 814 Jay Dee Ave., where he was arguing with John Bell, of the Jay Dee address.

Ashton Youth Injured in Farm Mishap

OREGON—A rural Ashton youth was injured Saturday morning in a farm accident near Oregon.

Percy Travis, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Verne Travis, rural Ashton, was working on the Douglas Camling farm in Rockvale Township when the mishap occurred about 10 a.m.

Travis was preparing to grind corn in a corn grinder when the top collapsed and Travis fell head first into the mill. He was taken by ambulance to Warmolt's Clinic, Oregon, where his condition today is described as "fair."

He suffered lacerations of the head and a skull fracture.

Travis was an employe of the Camling Farms.

Admits Will

Lee County Judge John Dixon this morning admitted to probate the will of Emma Larson, Dixon, who died Feb. 12.

Personal property was listed at $1,000, and real estate at $7,000.

Executors names are Loretta Davis, Kings, a daughter, and Elwood H. Larson, 213½ Crawford St., Dixon, a son, both heirs.

Traffic Court

Police Magistrate Lawrence Boos Sunday fined John E. Cupp, 43, Rt. 3, Dixon, $5 and costs for not having an Illinois driver's license and $20 and costs for a faulty muffler.

Cupp was arrested at River Street and Ravine Avenue Sunday evening. Cupp told police he had lost his billfold about a year ago and had failed to apply for a new license or duplicate.

Negroes Get Solitary

By The Associated Press

Eight Negro students jailed in a Rock Hill, S.C., sit-in demonstration have been placed on bread and water in solitary confinement for what prison officials called a sit-down and refusal to work.

Charles C. Maloney, superintendent of the nearby York County prison camp, said "We will let them out when they show us they are ready to go to work and obey orders."

Maloney confirmed Sunday the students from Friendship College at Rock Hill had been in solitary since Friday. They were among 11 jailed recently when they refused to post $100 bail each pending appeal on conviction of trespass during a variety store sit-in.

White Man

A white man and a Negro, both from Washington, D.C., remained in jail over the weekend at Rock Hill after arrest on breach of the peace charges during a brief scuffle at a Saturday demonstration. Both choose the "jail, no bail" of other demonstrators for racial equality in the South.

At Greenville, S.C., 11 young Negroes, four of them women, faced trial for assembling in a city park Saturday without a permit in an unsuccessful attempt to get into a skating rink for white persons.

to lay off most of its 24,000 employes. It said 85 per cent of its operations were halted, with only some small twin-engined short-haul craft in service.

TWA, with 90 per cent of its flights grounded, indicated it would begin laying off its 20,000 employes if there was no sign of a settlement by tonight.

National already has laid off 3,500 of its 4,000 employes. Eighty-six per cent of its operations were knocked out.

Eastern also started furloughing some of its 17,000 employes. However, Eastern said it still was maintaining 50 per cent of its service, using a fleet of 75 twin-engine planes.

The layoffs—leaving thousands of persons not directly involved in the strike without pay—began Sunday after Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg disclosed he had been unable to resolve the dispute.

Report Accident

OREGON — A one-car accident occurred Saturday on Rt. 2, 2½ miles south of here, when a car driven by Wanda S. Niedziela, 26, Chicago, went around a curve too fast, ran off the road and hit a rock wall.

State police said she was charged with driving too fast for conditions.

Damage was estimated at $350.

Artist Blendon Kneale Speaks at RRVAA Meet

Blendon Kneale, head of the art department of Frances Shimer College, was the speaker at the meeting of the Rock River Valley Art Association last week in the Sterling Coliseum.

An exhibit was shown last week in the coliseum of 16 paintings executed by Mr. Kneale in oil, water colors, casein and enamel. He is termed a master of originality, color and construction, and is best known as a modern abstractionist.

In his speech, the artist made known his feelings that every artist should explore his creative work as a challenge without limitation to any particular style, approach or technique. Versatility he said, is a virtue and it is through this freedom of expression and experimentation that the artist is able to bring the observer the results of his vision and a communicative feeling of discovery and experience.

Events Announced

Mrs. Doris Helms, RRVAA president, announced the Lee County Town and Country Art Show scheduled for March 5 in the Farm Bureau auditorium, Amboy. Entries of amateur artists will be accepted March 4. On March 9, a workshop for association members is planned in the coliseum art room. Artists will furnish their own materials for the session. On May 12, 13, 14, and 15 the RRVAA will have an exhibit of art work on the sports theme at the Rock River Valley Sports Show, sponsored by the Sinnissippi Rod and Gun Club in the coliseum.

Plans for the March association meeting, to be held in Dixon, will be announced as soon as arrangements are completed.

Westbrook Pegler Comments

By WESTBROOK PEGLER
Copyright, 1961, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

SEATTLE—You will never guess who phoned me at the Olmpic Hotel. His voice squeaked: "This is Dave. Dave Beck." I said, "Where did you see me last?" An old Chicago detective taught me that one. Dave said: "In the big committee room in the Senate Office Bulding that day when Bobby Kennedy was asking me."

So he came up.

By a sensitive coincidence I was in town for the Lincoln Day political orgies of the King County Young Republicans and my host was young James D. Burns, the deputy prosecuting attorney of the county, under Charles O. Carroll, who was all-America at the University of Washington. Not so long ago these two prosecuted Dave a total of not more than 15 years in prison for stealing $1,900, the value of one of numerous used Cadillacs, the property of segments of the Teamsters Union.

The Supreme Court of the State of Washington split even on Beck's appeal, with one judge abstaining because in private practice he had once represented the union. So now it is up to the U.S. Supreme Court and it will be interesting, nay fascinating, to observe whether Earl Warren disqualifies himself because Beck and his goons helped elect Warren governor of California time and again, doubtless with campaign contributions of money, too, according to union custom. Beck also helped put him on the Supreme Court, for he is as Republican as Warren ever was.

Bill Douglas faces an ethical problem too which he will take with the airy lightsomeness of an antelope clearing a corral fence. He is a heartily partisan unionarian. He oraculated before a grand congress of the CIO a few years ago, but whether for pay or solely for pleasure he refused to tell me when I inquired. And Beck is a notorious unioneer of a stripe which Douglas has not to my knowing condemned out of hand. But we shall see what Warren and Douglas do about that in due course. I would like to bet a little that they will feel no compulsion to stand aside. If they don't—?

When Dave came up I thought I ought to tell him I had been lallygagging around with the Messrs. Carroll and Burns. I forget just what impression that made on him, but I think he had heard all about it and had phoned me anyway if not actually for that very reason.

At any rate, we started even with no false pretenses and he balanced himself with remarkable poise on a rotund velvet couch like a pink Easter egg on a cushion. He used to take road work and some indoor workouts to keep in shape, but he never could keep those contours down. He is round and his prickly pink head with very pale blue eyes is lodged on a stout neck growing out of an egg-shape body which on this day was wrapped in a gray woolen double-breasted weskit that buttoned over on his hips. His face is a few shades lighter than lobster-pink but actually pink, nevertheless, as it has been these last 25 years to my knowledge. I recalled that he never drank or smoked and that he has two reputations — one of an impetuous, freestyle, bar-nothing, picket-line brawler; the other of a labor statesman, the kind who hang back and let the goons do it for them.

The late Harry Lundeberg, Popeye the sailor, of the Seamen's Union, used to sneer that Beck always arrived late with them bums of his after Lundeberg and his maritime whitecaps had settled a beef with their ball bats and tire chains. But now Dave was poised there on the couch, trying to bend one foot over the other knee, and laughingly remembering that he had won many a beef for old Popeye. Well, let us just say that between them they did intimidate many a town and the whole waterfront from Vancouver to San Diego and split the honors. Who wants to quibble now?

This piece is going to run into extra innings, anyway, so for the rest of today's lesson I will have to content your interest with atmosphere. I told Dave that Sam Angeloff of the Seattle P-I had described him as a fellow with millions in real estate in the heart of Seattle and elsewhere who sat on a pine box at the entrance of one of his black-top parking lots and collected nickels, dimes and two-bitses, morning to night, day after week after month and counted them over and over and over. Sam had taken me by the lot once and Mr. Burns had another time to call on Dave but he was not there.

Dave said, "Oh, that Sam exaggerates. I have got a guy on that lot to handle the money. He is a nice, reliable guy. I pay him $100 a week and I can trust him absolutely."

This lot is across the street from guess what? From a low, grey building, on land which Beck sold to the state, with the following legend across the front: "State of Washington; Employment Security Department."

"That," said Mr. Burns, the deputy prosecuting attorney, "is where teamsters and others go to collect unemployment when they are out of work."

Mr. Beck will never have to stand in line there. He gets $50,000 a year pension for life from the International Teamsters Union which will run in his favor whether he goes to prison for robbing the union or beats the rap, including all time, if any, behind the bars.

BLACKOUT ANTICS

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP) — When the lights went out at Oklahoma State University these things happened:

A student kissed several coeds in a hallway; four girls were trapped between floors in an elevator; and the fire alarm went off when the electric power was switched off.

Things Dixon Talked About

10 YEARS AGO

Miss Beverly Watson was chosen by her classmates and teachers as the senior girl in the Franklin Grove high school who was most eligible to receive the Good Citizenship Award which is offered each year by the Daughters of the American Revolution.

—o—

Miss Ethel Crawford has returned from Mason City, Iowa, where she attended the first official meeting of the new Board of Directors of the National Association of the Wa-Tan-Ye clubs.

At the National Convention held in Dubuque, Miss Crawford, who is president of the Dixon Wa-Tan-Ye, was elected and installed board member to represent her district including chapters in Dixon, Clinton, Davenport and Morrison.

At the luncheon meeting held in Mason City, Sunday, Miss Crawford was further honored by being named chairman of the national committee o nmajor activities.

—o—

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hall and son, Allan, have returned from a three week's trip to Florida. While there they saw the annual Gasparilla Pirate pageant in Tampa and also visited the Chester Barriages who are spending the winter in Tampa.

—o—

25 YEARS AGO

Because Saturday is Dollar Day in Dixon the banks of Dixon, cooperating with the merchants of this city, have decided to forego their usual Washington's birthday holiday, it was announced this morning.

—o—

Bradley Moll of this city, who submitted to an emergency operation at the University of Illinois hospital last week, is reported making satisfactory recovery.

—o—

35 YEARS AGO

The City National Bank's new home at the corner of First and Galena—the most modern and most beautiful bank building in this part of the state and probably not excelled in any city the size of Dixon, will be opened for public inspection at a reception between the hours of 1 and 9, Monday, and Tuesday morning the bank will begin doing business therein.

—o—

This afternoon Mrs. L. Drauch, Mrs. I. B. Potter, Mrs. John Weiss and Mrs. H. V. Huet are the hostesses entertaining in Downing hall. Some excellent out of town talent is scheduled to entertain the guests.

—o—

Mr. and Mrs. Abner Wilson entertained a company of friends at dinner last evening at their home near Amboy. Afterward a pleasant evening was spent playing cards.

—o—

50 YEARS AGO

The members of the Goof club have purchased a piano for their club house, the Fuller cottage up the river, which was delivered today by Dave Ortgiesen.

—o—

Tuesday evening the many friends and neighbors gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Johnson, Harmon, it being the tenth wedding anniversary of their marriage. They were showered with many useful gifts of tinware. The evening was spent in playing games and cards. In the wee hours of the morning when they were to start home, they were unable to get their horses as they found the barn yard under a foot of water. But the genial host having a pair of rubber boots that leak, soon got the teams, while the guests remained on higher ground.

—o—

Two youths were discovered kissing each other this morning. The accident happened on the corner of Second street and Peoria avenue. Think of it, almost in the business district. However, there is no ordinance against kissing anywhere in the city of Dixon. So let us kiss. Why should folks fuss about these two lovers kissing. Is it jealousy?

Coming down the avenue a little later we were again told about a kissing bee on College avenue, between Third and Fourth streets. And again, why all this fuss about kissing? Let 'em kiss, for tomorrow the other fellow might beat him to it. There's a good deal to kissing if you do it right.

Ruth Millett

A recent newspaper story about a woman's prison was illustrated by pictures of individual cells.

Ruth Millett

The interesting thing about the pictures was how much the women had don to turn their drab cells into temporary "homes."

Gay curtains hid the grim bars. Plants grew in profusion in pots and planters. Bedspreads covered the prison cots. Family pictures were taped to the walls.

Instead of a row of "just alike" bleak cells each woman had strived to turn her small room into a place of her own, unlike the rooms of other inmates.

This really shouldn't be surprising. For women have an innate need to turn even the most temporary or frustrating shelters into some semblance of a real home.

It's not something they do because they want to; it's something they do because they have to. It is not just that drab surroundings make a woman unhappy and discontented. A woman isn't happy in any background to which she hasn't added her own personal touch—if it is only shifting furniture around, adding personal knick-knacks, arranging vases of flowers, or putting a pot of geraniums in a kitchen window.

From First Ladies who redo the family rooms of the White House each time that stately residence changes hands right down to women locked behind prison bars, there is a feminine need to make any shelter as homelike and as individual as possible.

No domicile is so dreary that a woman doesn't begin to plan the moment she moves into it, what she can do to "fix it up." And no furnished quarters are so luxurious that a woman doesn't think she can improve on them by making a few changes.

The Doctor Says

By HAROLD THOMAS HYMAN, M.D.
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Scarcely a day passes without a report of one or more deaths from asphyxiation as the result of a malfunctioning space heater. Since these accidents are preventable, I'd like to tell you what can be done to avert any such tragedy in your home, especially if your living or sleeping quarters are confined, in small rooms of an apartment, flat, house or trailer.

Dr. Hyman

Whether you heat by oil, gas, coal, wood or any other fuel, you must provide for an adequate air supply or draft. If you fail to do this, you face at least two hazards.

The first and less dangerous is an accumulation of relatively harmless carbon dioxide and an accompanying deficiency of oxygen. This combination is apt to make you breathless if you're awake. And to waken you if you've fallen asleep. For prevention and relief, all you need to do is open a window.

The more dangerous is serious and even fatal poisoning with carbon monoxide.

This gas is colorless and odorless. It can accumulate slowly and sneak up on you while you doze or sleep. It forms when the flame from any kind of fuel is starved for air. What happens then is an incomplete burning of the fuel with the production of poisonous carbon monoxide instead of less offensive carbon dioxide.

A typical instance of carbon monoxide poisoning from a space heater is related in the very excellent bulletin of the North Carolina Board of Health.

On three occasions, the owner of a small grocery store was found unconscious by a customer. Each time he was rushed to a hospital where he was assumed to have some sort of heart attack. But then his wife had a similar attack. This led health officers to inspect the store where they found that a ceiling-hung gas heater had a flue that was ineffective when the store doors were closed for any considerable length of time.

If you rely on a space heater to warm a small shop that does not have a steady flow of customers or to warm your living or sleeping area, you must provide a steady supply of air to replace that used up in the burning of fuel. In other words, you must have a clean flue and chimney of ample size as determined by the firm which sold you the space heater, or by your health inspector whose services are free.

You must be especially careful if you reduce the amount of space you heat during the night.

For example, if you use the heater to warm several rooms throughout the day and then restrict the heating area to the bedroom at night, you may increase the possibility of asphyxiation. Whereas doors are frequently opened and shut throughout periods of activity and air makes its way through walls, windows and chinks in the several rooms, there is a great reduction of air intake in a sleeping chamber practically sealed off for the night. Since carbon monoxide is an odorless gas that may accumulate in fatal concentrations without producing warning symptoms, it is a hazard that's greatly to be feared.

All you have to do to avert this danger is to provide a free intake of air when your space heater is in use.

—Humorist James Thurber, arriving in London to star in his own play.

Dear Ann:

Dear Ann Landers: I am bored with your repeated admonition that married people must never strike one another no matter how angry or frustrated they become.

May I tell you that I learned from experience that the only way to get my husband in line (especially after he has had a few drinks) is to smack him one right square in the mouth?

He's one of those guys who likes to tease, and he doesn't know when to quit. When I reach the limit to my patience I just swing from the floor and let him have it. It works like magic. He doesn't get smart with me for weeks after that.

So why don't you mind your own business? All things are not good for all people. — SOVLED WITHOUT HELP

Dear Solved: You bet all things are not good for all people. Most men would respond to a smack in the mouth quite differently. You could find yourself picking teeth up off the floor.

If this system works for you then it's all right with me. But people who belt each other around, so far as I am concerned, are savages. I hold no brief for physical violence.

* * *

Dear Ann Landers: I'm another who has read your column for years and never thougnt I'd be asking for help.

I'm 19, well-employed, female and quite content. When I was an infant my mother left my father and me for another man. Dad raised me as best he could. I spent several years with aunts and uncles and housekeepers. Three years ago Dad married a lovely woman who is giving him real happiness.

My mother has phoned me four times in the last three years. She says she would love to see me, and I have agreed, but she has never shown up. My aunts have told me that she is a heavy drinker and a tramp. I think about Mother and more and more would like to tell her off. I have no love or respect for her and I'd like her to know it.

I could locate her easily through my aunts. I think I have this coming. Do you agree?—HOPE

Dear Hope: No. You would accomplish nothing constructive by telling her off. Why risk the guilt that might result from such a meeting, to say nothing of the possibility that she might attach herself to you permanently. The only good thing between your mother and you is distance. Keep it that way.

* * *

Dear Ann Landers: Why do I always wish that I had not said what I did--after it's too late? It doesn't matter whether it's a casual conversation over the back fence or a social functiion with several people listening. After I've spoken and think over what I've said (often many hours later) I realize I could have said it better—or worse yet—I ought not to have said it at all. Is there something wrong with me?—INFERIORITY COMPLEX

Dear Complex: Your feelings of insecurity make you inordinately self-critical. It may be a comfort to know that every living man, woman and child experiences these same feelings from time to time.

Relax, talk sense, and don't speak merely to combat the silence. Remember, a word once uttered, is like a dollar spent. It's gone.

* * *

Does almost everyone have a good time but you? If so, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "How To Be Well-Liked," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

95 Per Cent Of People Are Honest

CLEVELAND (AP) — A National Credit Bureau official says 95 per cent of the people in the United States can be granted a certain amount of credit and that "only 5 per cent are maliciously dishonest."

That view was given Sunday by John L. Spafford of St. Louis, executive vice president of the Associated Credit Bureaus of America, Inc. He is here for the Fifth District consumer credit conference, which winds up Tuesday.

The conference is being attended by 350 persons in the credit field from Ohio, Kentucky, Illinois, Indiana, Michigan and Wisconsin, plus the Canadian province of Ontario.

Spafford said in an interview that caution is the key to granting credit today. He noted that people who face seasonal layoffs, including auto workers, may find some difficulty in obtaining all the credit they seek.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—discovery of a world-famous research institute.

This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation H®. At all drug counters.

J.F.K's Public Relations Aims

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON — President Kennedy may someday get political pneumonia from over-exposure in public. But not now. Meanwhile, he is doing a unique job of public relations in the White House.

A president's popularity is always at a high mark in his first few months. So any danger that Kenndy will wear out his welcome must come later.

What is unique is that he trying trying to establish as much personal contact as possible with the people on TV, before news cameras and in public statements. No matter what his purpose, he is also providing an education in the presidency.

Last week, for instance, TV showed him in his office conferring with his budget bureau aides and talking on the phone during the Congo crisis with Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson at the United Nations.

Sunday the New York Times' magazine section had four pages of pictures of Kennedy at work in the White House with his assistants, advisers and department heads.

4 TV Conferences

He already has had four televised news conferences, three of them live.

There was no TV in President Roosevelt's time. He couldn't get around much because of his confinement to a wheel chair. His only direct contact with the masses was as a voice over the radio.

Thus he had to depend mostly on the magic of his voice to create a sense of nimself. His news conferences, which he used for all they were worth to get his ideas across, appeared only in print.

President Truman completely lacked a dramatic sense. He, too, had to depend on news conferences and almost entirely on radio to reach the public directly.

President Eisenhower had TV, which he used from time to time to make statements or explanations. Otherwise, his public appearances were mostly on journews or on TV news conferences shown hours after they occurred.

Any sight of Eisenhower in the White House was usually formal.

Conscious of Image

Kennedy's attempts to make the country conscious of him as an individual and as a president parallels in a way the public appearance technique he used when he represented Massachusetts in Congress.

When he ran for the House he used neighborhood receptions to meet a lot of people personnally at one time. He did the same on a statewide scale when he ran for the Senate.

For some years before he sought the presidency he was forever moving around to meet people, individually or in groups, to establish personal contact and build an image of himself as a man for the White House.

He is nnot running for anything now. But he is trying to establish himself clearly as a leader, particularly when dealing with Congress. If he can line up wide public support, his task with Congress will be easy.

Sense of Motion

In addition, his activity give a sense of movement, which is important for him to get across to the vast and slow-moving government bureaucracy.

Kennedy is said to have been greatly impressed by Richard E. Neustadt's acute book, "Presidential Power." He has brought the Columbia professor into his camp as an adviser on government.

Neustadt went into great detail on a president's public relations and their importance in doing his job. He said: "If he would be effective as a guardian of public standing he must be effective as a teacher to the public."

Tot Dropped From Burning Building Hurt

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—A 2-year-old boy suffered a fractured skull after being dropped by his mother from the second-story ledge of a blazing wooden apartment house early today.

"The neighbors yelled for me to drop him and they would catch him. I dropped him but they didn't catch him," sobbed Mrs. James White at a hospital where she was taken for shock and minor bruises.

Her son, James White Jr., was reported in critical condition.

The mother was rescued by firemen. Fourteen other occupants of the apartment house escaped as fire destroyed the stucture.

India Supports U. N. Resolution

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Prime Minister Nehru today said India "broadly supports" the Congo resolution introduced in the United Nations by Ceylon, the United Arab Republic and Liberia. Nehru appealed for the resolution's adoption.

"Speed is the essence of the Congo solution," Nehru told Parliament, "and unless the United Nations acts effectively and immediately, we are heading toward global disaster."

Ex-Ambassador Hits Red Charge

WASHINGTON (AP) — Spruille Braden has challenged testimony by a former U.S. diplomat that he was fired as ambassador to Argentina by former President Harry S. Truman after being accused of helping Latin-American Communists.

Braden, from his home in New York, offered to appear before the Senate Internal Security subcommittee, where William D. Pawley testified in closed sessions last Steptember, to deny the charges under oath.

"I would be glad to have the results of the combined testimony of Pawley and myself forwarded to the Department of Justice if, in the judgment of the Senate, such disposition is warranted," Braden said.

Pawley's testimony was released Sunday.

In Bermuda, where he is on vacation, Truman's only comment was "Spruille Braden did a good job."

Braden said instead of being fired, he had been praised by Truman and awarded the Medal of Freedom, the highest U.S. civilian decoration.

Pawley, Miami businessman and former ambassador to Peru and Brazil, said he received an intelligence memorandum prepared by an Army undercover agent, took it to then Atty. Gen. Tom Clark and was summoned next day to the White House to show it to Truman.

At that time in 1947, Pawley was assistant secretary of state for American republic affairs.

In his testimony, Pawley pictured Braden not as a Communist but as a very ambitious man who "became involved in a program which appeared to be helpful to the Communist party in Latin America."

He said that later Braden blocked his appointment to replace Braden as Argentine ambassador and he was sent instead to Brazil.

"Pawley makes only one true statement," replied Braden, "that I blocked his appointment as ambassador to Argentine."

Braden said he had sounded a "long series" of alarms "as to the very dangerous infiltration of communism throughout the American republics," starting as early as 1945.

Report French Proposals to End Rebellion

TUNIS, Tunisia (AP) — The newspaper Afrique Action said today it understands France has offered the Algerian nationalists rebels three concessions to encourage peace negotiations.

The measures were said to be the halt of executions of rebels, movement of imprisoned rebel leaders from an island fortress off the French coast to a residence near Paris and concentration of the French army in Algeria in the cities, ending its "pacification" mission in the countryside.

Eagles Take 55-51 Win From Cards

FRANKLIN GROVE — Denny Stehl continued his powerful rebounding for Franklin Center Saturday night as the Eagles surprised Stillman Valley, 55-51, in the Route 72 conference. Stehl picked off 30 more rebounds to boost his total for the last four games to an amazing 126.

The Eagles were also greatly helped by deadeye shooting from the floor as they potted 23 of 47 field goal attempts for 49 per cent. As the same time Stillman was chucking in just 18 of 57 shots for 31 per cent.

The Cards took a 16-13 first quarter lead, and by halftime had stretched that to 29-23. But in the second half it was the Eagles' turn. After three quarters they had narrowed the gap to just two points, 39-37. And in the final period they outscored Stillman, 18-12, to salt away the win.

Stehl was also Franklin's high scorer with 12 points. Monty Roop and Gary Cater each added 10. Bob Austin was high for the Cards with 18 points.

Stillman had little trouble in the preliminary, beating the little Eagles, 67-23.

It was the final regular season game for both teams.

Grove, Jacobs Gain 3rd Spots

By CHIP HICKS

Of the five Dixon High wrestlers who went to the sectional tournament at Peoria Friday, all placed. Jim Boyer was the only Dixon grappler to obtain first, but John Jacobs and Neil Grove won third place honors. Joe Coffey and Mike Wadsworth earned fourth.

As a team, the Dukes faired well by taking fifth place out of nineteen teams represented. The Dukes were beaten out of fourth place by one point.

Jim Boyer had easy going throughout the tourney. He pinned two out of three opponents and easily decisioned the other. Boyer's first opponent, Davis Anderson of Princeton, lasted only 42 seconds before he was pegged to the mat. Boyer then clobbered Mike DeBates of Geneseo in a one-sided match, three to nothing. To insure the championship, Boyer pinned Ned Richardson of Orion in five minutes and 52 seconds. Next week Boyer will go to the University of Illinois for the State Wrestling Tourney. He'll be the only Duke represented.

Neil Grove beat Doug Sinn of Kewanee before he fell to defeat at the hands of Joe Jones of East Moline. Grove defeated Gary Miller of Richwoods in the consolation finals, place winner of the Peoria District. John Jacobs pinned the first Ajay Martin, before he was downed by Doug Zemke of Sterling, seven to six. Jacobs took third by decisioning Clarence Wilson of Ottawa.

After downing Bernard Young, Mike Wadsworth was defeated by Dick Ernst of Savanna in the semi-finals and by Lee Rummery of Moline in the consolation finals. Wadsworth lost these matches by two and one points respectively.

To assure himself of a medal, Joe Coffey smashed Roger Cox of Richwoods, nine to two. From there he was decisioned by Mike Romanowski of Moline, 14-7 and by Dave Herstedt of East Moline by an 11-7 score.

Walnut Tops Wethersfield

WETHESFIELD — Walnut overcame a first quarter deficit Friday night to dump Wethersfield, 54-51, in a South Blackhawk conference fray.

The Blue Raiders found themselves down, 19-15, after one quarter but came back in the second period to tie things up at the half, 28-28. In the third period Wethersfield grabbed the lead back, and going into the final period the Geese had a two-point lead.

But the Raiders were still in the game, and they rallied to take the tight tussle by three points.

Bob Mattingly and Doug Page were high for Walnut with 15 points apiece. Kennedy dropped in 14 for Wethersfield.

Wethersfield won the preliminary, 49-39.

Wilma Breaks Another Mark

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The $64,000 question of the track world is: "What will it take to stop Wilma Rudolph?"

The seemingly unbeatable Tennessee A&I coed continued her onslaught against the record book before 9,925 here Saturday night in the first running of the Mason-Dixon games when she set a record in the women's 70-yard dash.

Miss Rudolph romped home in 7.8 and two-fifth second under the old 8.2 record set in 1935 by Stella Walsh of Poland.

A week ago last Saturday George Covert officiated at what he called "the best defensive game I've seen in the last ten years." This was the battle in which the University of Chicago edged Knox, 32-27, in an overtime.

George especially had high praise for Knox which did such a tremendous job of defensing its larger opponents. Playing over half the contest for Knox, and doing a fine job, George said, was Dave Tagge, a sophomore from Dixon.

That first half of Rock Falls Friday had a lot of Dixon High fans shaking their heads. There's no doubt that the Dukes have come a long way in the last month-and-a-half, but that first half looked like they had reverted to their form of earlier this season. The second half was quite a different story, but we've seen the Dukes play better than that this season too.

Wonder how spring training ever got started? After the Cincinnati Red Stockings went undefeated in the season of 1869, the Chicago White Sox decided to try and end this domination by getting an early start at New Orleans in February of 1870. In following years other teams began to head for warmer climes too.

Well, we came in with our customary 10-5 record on predicting the area's basketball games again last week. If anyone has had a worse record in predicting basketball games this winter, we'd appreciate it if he'd let us know. We're getting a complex about the whole thing. Last week we missed Sterling-Princeton, Rochelle-Mendota, Ashton-Leaf River, Bureau-Ohio and Oregon-Erie.

Hoosiers Seek Vengeance Against Ohio State Tonight

By JOE MOOSHIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

Ohio State's top-ranked and undefeated Buckeyes, surviving Saturday night's near ambush at Iowa by a 62-61 margin to all but seal their second straight Big Ten basketball championship, bump into revenge-minded Indiana tonight.

The Hoosiers, having the advantage of their own home floor, haven't forgotten the humiliating 100-65 defeat they suffered at Ohio State two weeks ago, adding to the growing basketball feud between the two schools.

Last season, Indiana was one of the top favorites to cop the Big Ten title. However, Ohio State, bolstered by such newcomers as Jerry Lucas, John Havlicek and Mel Nowell, tipped Indiana 96-95 at Columbus and went on to clinch the title.

Hoosier's Came Back

After having won the championship, Ohio State lost at Indiana, 99-83. The Hoosiers, quite naturally, thought they were a better club and made it known how they felt.

That was the last loss Ohio State suffered. It has a current streak of 25 victories—20 this season including a 10-0 conference record.

Prior to the Indiana game two weeks ago, Ohio State Coach Fred Taylor had been yanking his starters early in the second half as the Buckeyes kept rolling up big scores.

Starters Stayed In

But against Indiana, Taylor went with the regulars until Havlicek hit on a short jump to make the score 100-63 with 1:33 to play.

Indiana Coach Branch McCracken accused Ohio State of pouring it on. Taylor retorted:

"Our players got sick and tired of reading in the papers that they (the Hoosiers) were better than we were last year. You don't kick kids around like that and not make them mad."

This time Indiana could be the team which is "mad." Other games tonight find Illinois (4-4) at Michigan State (1-9), Iowa (6-2) at Michigan (1-7) and Minnesota (6-4) at Wisconsin (1-7).

Real Battle At Iowa

Ohio State had its hands full against Iowa Saturday night and trailed until the last two minutes when Larry Siegfried and reserve Gary Gearhart intercepted passes and scored on easy layups for a 62-59 Buckeye lead.

Don Nelson hit for Iowa to make it 62-61 and then missed on a 12-foot jump shot shortly before the final gun. Nelson matched All-America Lucas with 25 points for scoring honors but outrebounded the Buckeye star 14-11. Iowa led 34-24 at the half.

Iowa Coach Sharm Scheuerman praised his club's defensive play but blamed the defeat on poor shooting in the second half. "We had the shots but couldn't hit," said Scheuerman. "It's a sure sign of a champion when you can come back like that to win," added Scheuerman in reference to Ohio State.

Taylor Was Scared

Buckeye Coach Taylor said he thought his team would lose after the first half. "They just grabbed us off our feet. We've just been cruising along with big margins. This is quite a switch to take."

Purdue (8-2) and Iowa (6-2) are the only teams given a conceivable chance of overtaking the Buckeyes. Purdue remained in the running with a 65-64 victory over Michigan on the last-minute exploits of Terry Dischinger. Dischinger scored the last five points for the Boilermakers on two baskets and a free throw and finished with a total of 26.

Northwestern defeated Illinois 78-72, Indiana bumped Wisconsin 98-84 and Minnesota edged Michigan State 75-72. Oddly enough, all five visiting teams were victorious Saturday.

Lowrey Takes Major Loop Golf Crown

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Little Peanuts Lowrey outdrove and out putted his rivals to win the baseball players golf championship with a final round of 72 and a 72-hole score of 295.

Lowrey's two-over-par finish Sunday gave him a three stroke triumph over Baltimore Manager Paul Richards, who shot a 74 for a 298 total at the Miami Springs course.

The 5-foot-9 coach of the Philadelphia Phillies credited his victory to long smashes off the tees and to his steady putting game.

Alvin Dark San Francisco Giants manager also had a fine round, coming in with a 74 to tie defending champion Jim Hearn former Philadelphia pitcher for third place at 301.

Ralph Terry, New York Yankee righthander, was fifth with a 78 for a 305 total. Paul Waner, the veteran hall of famer and Jimmy Davenport, Giant third baseman, were tied for sixth at 307.

Track Records May Fall Fast

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Up, up, up climb the "magic figures" in track and field.

You don't need a long memory to recall when the four-minute mile was just a remote possibility and the 16-foot pole vault was spoken of in whispers.

Now, with the indoor season less than half over, a whole fistful of records are in jeopardy.

Start with the mile.

It never has been run in four minutes indoors because of the numerous turns on banked tracks. Don Delany's 4:01.4 is the record. But Istvan Rozsavolgyi, the skinny Hungarian army captain, has his sights set on the first indoor four-minute job.

He is confident he can do it. His best to date in five races this season is 4:04, but he hit 4:01.8 in chasing Delany to the Irishman's record two years ago.

The pole vault?

Don Bragg's 15-9½ still stands as the indoor record. Bragg always has had his heart set on becoming the first man to get over 16 feet.

Discouraged because of assorted ills early this season, he wanted to quit. Then, two weeks ago in Philadelphia, he barely missed at 16 feet. Last week in the New York Athletic Club games, he again just did hit the crossbar after getting his body safely over. Now he is sure that he'll get over 16 feet before the end of the season.

How high can they go in the high jump?

Probably only Valery Brumel, the 18-year-old Soviet whiz kid, can answer that. He made 7-3 in his debut on boards here last week, but jumped 7-4½ in Leningrad less than a month ago.

Brumel came within a hair of clearing 7-5 last week. He is a confident fellow, and thinks around 7-6½ is about as high as any human can climb.

Then there is the 60-yard high hurdles.

Hayes Jones is co-holder of the record of 7 seconds with Milt Campbell. The latter has retired, so the Ypsilanti, Mich., schoolteacher has the field to himself.

"If I could only get just a little better start on that first hurdle," said Jones recently, "I just might be able to shave a tenth of a second off the time."

The broad jump?

Just three nights ago, Ralph Boston of Tennessee A&I became the first jumper in history to soar over 26 feet indoors. He made 26-1¾, and the end is not in sight.

Runyan Grabs Golf Title

DUNEDIN, Fla. (AP) — Paul Runyan is the new Professional Golfers Association seniors champion today.

Runyan carded a 3-under-par 69 for his final round of the tournament over the 6,614-yard national PGA course Sunday for a 72-hole total of 278, ten strokes under par and six strokes better than the previous tournament record.

In second place, three strokes behind, was Jimmy Demaret of Houston, Tex. Clarence Doser of Geithersburg, Md., who led by two strokes at the start of the final day, finished third with 282.

Runyan, playing in his third seniors, finished second the two previous years.

Joe Brown of Des Moines, Iowa, finished a surprising fourth at 283, carding a 68 — best round of the day — for his final round. Ivan Gantz of Indianapolis was next at 284.

A total of 15 players were par or better for the 72 holes.

LOOKING FOR A BETTER YEAR — Detroit Tiger pitcher Don Mossi, right, demonstrates to Ray Narleski how he turns his hand over in delivering one of his favorite pitches—the screw ball—at Tigers early training camp at Lakeland, Fla., Feb. 19. Narleski missed all of last season because of a back injury. He expects to experiment with pitches other than his curve and fast ball during spring training. Mossi had a bad year in 1960 and is working out at the early camp hoping to return to his winning form. (AP Wirephoto)

District Tourneys Start This Week

Five Dixon area teams will open post-season tournament play this week in their respective districts. At Ashton, Forreston, Ashton and Franklin Center will be trying to earn the right to advance to the Rock Falls regional tourney which starts Feb. 27.

At DePue, Ohio will take its fine 20-5 record into that district tourney in hopes that they'll be able to advance to the LaSalle Regional, Bureau, co-titlist with Ohio in the Little Eight, and DePue will be the teams which the Bulldogs will probably have to reckon with for the district title. Ohio plays Malden Wednesday in their opening tourney game.

In the Serena district Paw Paw will be one of the underdog teams, and will have to get by teams like Serena and Earlville if they have any aspirations of getting into the Morris regional. The majority of the teams in the Serena district are members of the Little Ten. Paw Paw opens its tourney action Wednesday against Earlville.

All the teams in the Ashton district are members of the Route 72 conference. Leaf River meets Stillman Valley at 6:45 p.m. Tuesday in the district opener, and Franklin Center plays Ashton immediately following that game. Byron and Forreston, two teams which have opening round byes, will play the winners of the first two games on Wednesday and Thursday nights. This district should be one of the more evenly-matched ones with Byron, conference co-champ, favored.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — The month-long elimination series leading to the crowning of a state high school basketball champion opens tonight with district tournament competition.

A total of 248 small schools are entered in the 42 district meets, with the winners to qualify for regional action next week when the larger schools begin their title quest.

Four district tourneys are on tap tonight — at Geneva, Grand Chain, Odell and Waterloo.

The other districts open Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, and all of them end Friday.

While the small schools are going through the weeding out process, major teams will be winding up their regular schedules.

In Saturday night action, Prospect, Pinckneyville and other rated clubs polished up their records.

Once beaten Prospect hammered Maine West 60-45 for its 21st win and Pinckneyville trimmed Herrin 86-74 to post a 21-3 record.

Springfield's Senators coasted to a 61-50 decision over Mattoon, their 20th in 23 attempts, and Litchfield banged Effingham 82-57 for 18 triumphs against 3 losses.

Two more rated teams — Thornton and Moline — captured easy victories. Thornton whipped Thornridge 88-46 and Moline dumped Alleman of Rock Island 57-46.

Cards Belt Aces, 60-48, In Finale

FORRESTON — The Forreston Cardinals ended their basketball season Saturday night, by handing the Ashton Aces a 60 to 48 drubbing in the Route 72 conference.

The Aces playing shorthanded by the loss of Jim Argetsinger with a sprained ankle and Bill Reitz, sidelined with the mumps, were not a match for the high flying Cardinals.

After the first quarter, which ended 10-9 in the Aces' favor, the Cardinals went on to build up a lead of 50 to 32 by the end of three quarters of play. The Aces surged back in the final period outscoring the Forreston aggregation 16 to 10, but had given too many points to catch up.

Four Cardinals racked up points in double columns: Gerry Vietmeier lead with 17, followed by Terry Mathiot who garnered 14. Larry Hinters added 12 points to the Forreston cause and Dave Viemeier contributed 10.

For the losing Aces, Terry Henert tossed in 13 points and was followed by Tom Kooistra, who made 11.

The Cardinals finish the season with 12 wins against 11 setbacks. In conference play Forreston had an 8 and 6 record. Ashton had a 5-9 reading in the loop.

The Little Bedbirds won the evening's first game 45 to 21. This concluded a season in which, in regular play, they have racked up 18 wins against no losses. Their only loss came in holiday tournament play.

Hill Captures Tucson Open

By MURRAY SINCLAIR

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — A 27-foot desperation putt good for a birdie on the third hole Sunday gave Dave Hill of Jackson, Mich., victory in the sudden death playoff for top money in the $20,000 Tucson Open gold tournament.

Former U.S. Open champ Tommy Bolt and California rookie Buddy Sullivan quietly headed for the clubhouse as the 23-year-old Hill leaped for joy. It was his first PGA victory.

The putt that wasn't meant to fall earned $2,800 for Hill and trimmed Bolt and Sullivan's shares to $1,670 each.

"I just hit it," said the elated youngster. "I had no idea it would go in. All I was trying to do was get close to the pin for a par."

Hill also had something to jump about a few minutes earlier when his 15-foot putt dropped for an eagle 3 on the par-5, 510-yard 18th hole. This gave him a 5-under-par 65 for the round and a 72-hole total of 269.

Sullivan stood up under pressure by coming out of trees for a birdie on the 18th. Bolt also had 269.

Bolt missed a 10-foot putt for a birdie on the first extra hole by less than an inch. All three took par fours for the 368-yard hole.

Bolt went for victory on the second hole with a 20-foot chip shot from the apron that rimmed the cup and hung on the lip. He had to settle for a par 4 on the 450-yard No. 2 hole. So did Hill and Sullivan. The end came on the next green.

Goldwater Advises, 'Risk War'

CHICAGO (AP) — Sen. Barry M. Goldwater, R-Ariz., a spokesman for conservative Republicans, says the United States should try to win respect as a world power by asserting its military might.

The U.S. eventually will gain victory over communism but it will mean risking war, the senator told the convention of the Illinois Young Republican Federation Saturday at Mundelein College.

"But so does most everything we've ever done," he said.

Goldwater said conservatism is returning to the nation under leadership of its youth.

"We want to see the U.S. act like a world power," he said. "Forget about prestige. You can buy it like a new hairdo. What we have to have as a nation is respect."

"We don't gain respect when we have great military power and are afraid to use it. We have the ability to go to the brink of war and return. That's how to use military power.

The Young Republicans adopted a platform opposing admission of Red China to the United Nations. It also opposed diplomatic recognition of Red China and resumption of diplomatic relations with Cuba.

Planks opposing federal aid to education and U.S. participation in summit talks were adopted. The platform also placed the group on record in favor of state right-to-work laws, placing labor unions under anti-trust legislation, and retention of a loyalty oath in the National Defense Education Act.

Brian Whalen of Loyola University was elected president of the federation.

Other officers elected were Michael Meehan of Bradley University, vice president; John Weicher of the University of Chicago, Chicago area vice president; Kathy Clinite of Illinois State Normal University, secretary, and Richard Lipps of Northwestern University, treasurer.

Kennedy Ends First Month as President

MIDDLEBURG, Va. (AP) — President Kennedy wound up today in the muddy, thawing Virginia countryside the first month of an administration that has swerved sharply from the domestic path of the old one.

In the handling of foreign affairs, the break with policies of the Eisenhower administration has been less pronounced. Yet Kennedy definitely has set out on a challenging course to court Asia, Africa and Latin America and bring them more solidly to the side of the West.

It was just a month ago, in a national capital floundering under a massive snowfall, that Kennedy was inaugurated president. Today, the chief executive was closing out his first month in office in the seclusion of Glen Ora, the 400-acre estate he has rented in the heart of the Virginia fox and horse country. He planned to return to the White House before noon.

Kennedy sends to Congress today an aid to education bill. His idea is that the federal government should provide financial help both for classroom construction and salary payments to teachers. The matter is a departure from an Eisenhower policy that frowned on assistance with salaries.

But Kennedy since the start of his administration has been departing from the course his predecessor preferred. This has shown up, as campaign pledges foreshadowed, in his programs to combat need, unemployment and slumping business. It turns up in his plan to provide medical care for the aged through the Social Security system.

The change is apparent in the Kennedy cancellation of an Eisenhower administration restriction on troops having their families with them overseas. It is evident, too, in the order Kennedy issued within his first 24 hours on the job for distribution of more food to the needy hungry Americans.

In the realm of military might, the new President quickly decreed a strengthening of the missile, Polaris submarine and airlift programs.

All in all, Kennedy has put on a display of energy and action in the White House that hasn't been paralled for many a day. Along with this, he has made a definite, distinct imprint on social life in Washington and Middleburg.

MARILYN IN CLINIC — Marilyn Monroe is a patient in New York Hospital's Payne Whitney Psychiatric Clinic. The hospital said she is in satisfactory condition but another source said the blonde actress is "highly disturbed." A hospital spokesman said Miss Monroe entered the hospital Feb. 5 but he would give no details. She is shown above at the New York preview last week of her latest movie, "The Misfits." Speed Up Highway Building

CARBONDALE (AP) — Gov. Otto Kerner told the final session of the Southern Illinoois economic conference Saturday that federal highway construction and public works projects would be speeded up to provide needed jobs in the area.

Most of the 400 business, labor, education and government leaders attending the two-day conference appeared hopeful that quick government action could help substantially in relieving serious unemployment.

In an address at the last conference session, Kerner called for increased government expenditures in the area. He said the state would seek solutions to major problems confronting the area. These include water shortages, inadequate highways, obsolete urban physical plants, undeveloped recreational facilities and lack of capital funds to finance industry he said.

The governor also urged the organization of a new industrial planning department with cabinet status in the state government.

F. Guy Hitt, a Benton banker, praised the "state's positive approach" to the area's problems. He said "Kerner emphasized local efforts. His is not a giveaway program. It's solid and it should help."

However, another delegate, who declined to be identified, said "there was nothing new in the governor's speech." He said other persons had worked for years and made great gains on projects advocated by the governor. He added that Kerner failed to give credit to other government officials for past efforts.

Chicag industrialist Arnold Maremont, general chairman of the conference, said he was pleased with the response of the delegates.

"It was a very rich meeting, highly productive," he said. "We got an outline of a total program of action that I am sure the governor will implement immediately."

Count Hong Kong's Floating People

HONG KONG (AP) — Hong Kong's floating population totals at least 104,032 Chinese, living on 17,040 boats in bays and harbors of the British colony, the first stage of a new census shows. The census is Hong Kong's first in 30 years.

Czechoslovakian Visits Hungary

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP)—President Antonin Novotny of Czechoslovakia arrived today for a five-day state visit.

Boy, 7, Falls 275 Feet, Lives

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Harry Stage, 7, who plunged 275 feet down a narrow pipe into a deep well, is alive today because he knows how to mind his dad.

The brown-eyed youngster with tousled blond hair is recovering in Memorial Hospital from two broken legs, a fractured pelvis and possible internal injuries.

Harry was playing on a ranch 25 miles southwest of Phoenix Sunday while his dad, Ed, a driller, was talking to ranch owner Webb Faubion.

Climbing up on a platform, Harry jumped on a piece of plywood which concealed the pipe to an underground irrigation well.

Faubion said, "The boy just vanished."

Harry plunged down the 16-inch pipe with 250 feet of water at the bottom. But there was one thing in his favor.

"That board helped compress air in the pipe," said Stage, "and this undoubtly slowed his fall. But he couldn't tread water because of his broken legs and pelvis."

From the bottom of the pipe came Harry's voice, "Daddy, get me out of here."

"Don't worry, son, and don't be scared," replied his fatther. "We'll get you out. Just push against the sides of the pipe so you don't sink."

The dozen or so men now gathered at the scene heard Harry reply, "Okay, daddy, I will."

A lengthy cable was no help. It curled up about halfway down the pipe.

Then stage decided he would try to slip down the pipe. No good. It was too tight.

Recalling a block and tackle at a neighbor's ranch, Faubion drove seven miles at high speed to get it. But it's rope was gone.

Faubion stripped the ranch of lariats and hastened back.

Tied together, the lariats came to more than 300 feet. The line was dropped into the pipe.

Eagerly, the boy called, "Daddy I can hold on to it while you pull me up."

But the father wasn't going to gamble.

"No," he shouted, "you put the loop under both your shoulders."

Struggling in the pipe, Harry got the loop under his arms.

Spelling each other, the men pulled on the rope, hauling the boy up slowly. They stopped at intervals to be sure the loop was holding.

Finally, Harry was out, put aboard a waiting ambulance and taken to the hospital.

Faubion said, "He's the bravest and luckiest boy in Arizona."

Said his dad proudly, "He always did mind good."

Venezuelan Uprising Smashed

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — A small-scale military uprising was smashed in Caracas early today and the revolt leader arrested, a communique announced. The insurgents tried to seize the military academy in a surprise move.

They'll Do It Every Time — By Jimmy Hatlo

President Holds Seat For Girl

WASHINGTON (AP)—It isn't every girl that has the President hold a seat for her.

That happened Sunday when President and Mrs. Kennedy attended Mass at Holy Trinity church in Georgetown.

A girl about 11, wearing a red hat and red coat, was seated in front of the Kennedys. During the Mass, she got up, whispered in the President's ear and left. She returned in a few minutes.

Asked afterward what she whispered to the President, the girl said she asked him to save her place. Her name was not obtained by reporters.

RABAT, Morocco (AP) — Soviet President Lenoid Brezhnev took off for Budapest today, en route to Moscow after an African trip that included state visits to Guiana and Ghana.

GOPs Propose Alternate Plans

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republicans wheel into action today their "positive alternative" opposition to President Kennedy's legislative program.

Senate Minority Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois announced he is ready with a Republican substitute for the aid to education program being laid before Congress by Kennedy.

"It is a simple bill designed to promote classroom construction," Dirksen said. "It has no gadgets or frills. I believe its simplicity and its austerity commend it."

Alternative

Dirksen said he is offering the measure as part of a campaign for the Republicans to come up with a "positive alternative" to all of Kennedy's proposals rather than merely opposing everything the President suggests.

This is in line with the assertion of Republican National Chairman Thruston B. Morton on a New York television program with Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R.-N. Y., Sunday that his party is going to have a "more or less middle-of-the-road" substitute for all of Kennedy's proposals.

Congressional Republicans look on aid to education as an issue that will test the ability of their informal coalition with conservative Southern Democrats to cut the size and scope of Kennedy's domestic programs.

Democrats by 2 to 1

Outnumbered roughly 2-1 by Democrats in Congress, the Republicans know they are likely to have only minor influence on the final form of such legislation as that to extend the payment of unemployment insurance benefits and to increase the $1 an hour minimum wage.

But the school aid bill may be a different story because Democrats can't agree among themselves how far to go in this field.

Dirksen is offering for the Republicans a four-year, $1 billion education proposal. Federal assistance, to be matched by the states, would be limited to classroom construction.

Avoiding complicated formulas, the Dirksen measure would provide for matching of funds on the ratio of the number of children under the age of 14 in each state bears to the number of children of that age in the nation.

Negro Maid Inherits $1 Million

GARDEN CITY, N.Y. (AP) — A Negro onetime maid, who lives in a Tudor mansion in this virtually all-white suburb of New York City, has inherited a fortune of almost one million dollars.

Police investigation of an accidental shooting and a death from natural causes led to disclosure Sunday that Ravella Hughes, 64, the former maid, had inherited the fortune and since last June had been owner of the mansion.

Miss Hughes, shot in the groin, was reported in satisfactory condition in a hospital.

She was given the fortune and the mansion in the will of Evelyn Adams, spinster daughter of the founder of the Adams Chewing Gum Co. Miss Adams inherited the fortune from her mother several years ago.

Police said Miss Adams left all her estate to Miss Hughes, who had been her maid and companion for about 39 years.

Miss Hughes continued to live at the "Adams House" after her employer's death in June, but her ownership of the mansion was not publicly known. Then Matilda Shaw, 45, Negro maid for Miss Hughes, died Saturday. Police said the maid collapsed in the house and died apparently of natural causes.

Another weekend event was the wounding of Miss Hughes and of Norman Woodward, 47, Negro operator of a fleet of taxicabs. He suffered a slight finger wound from a bullet that struck Miss Hughes.

Police said a World War I German automatic was discharged as Miss Hughes, who had sold the mansion for $75,000 and was packing some of the furniture, went with Woodward to look over some items in the library.

Woodward reached for the souvenir gun, and as he examined it the gun went off.

Police said Miss Hughes told them she has sold the house because it is too big and she was "just too lonesome" living there.

6 Die During Doctors' Strike

TOKYO (AP) — Japanese newspapers said six persons died Sunday because of delays in getting medical assistance as the result of a nationwide doctors' strike. About 55,000 doctors and dentists took part in the 24-hour work stoppage, which supported demands for higher fees and other changes in the national health insurance program.

Fly 25 Bodies To United States For Identification

BRUSSELS (AP) — The bodies of 25 victims of last week's crash of a Sabena Belgian Airlines jetliner will be flown to the United States for further attempts at identification. Police said identification methods such as radiography might be used.

Congress Divided On Farm Program

By RICHARD P. POWERS

WASHINGTON (AP)—Members of Congress from Midwest farm states differed today on the question of whether President Kennedy's proposed emergency feed grain program for 1961 would do the job.

Sen. Quentin Burdick, D-N. D., said he believes the program would be effective. He predicted Congress probably will pass it by March 15, about the time corn planting starts in the South.

But Rep. Don Short, R.-N. D., said he does not like the Kennedy approach to the feed grain program. He said the present program for corn and other feed grains, over the long haul, is better.

Rep. Albert Quie, R-Minn., said the President is "on the right track," particularly in that the proposal is for voluntary reduction in feed grain planting. Quie said, however, he favors various changes in the proposed program.

Kennedy sent his proposal to Congress last Thursday. It is designed to halt piling up of surpluses, to raise producer incomes and to reduce government farm expenditures.

It would raise price supports for corn from the $1.06 a bushel for the 1960 crop to $1.20 for this year's crop. There would be corresponding increases in the support level for other grains such as oats, barley and grain sorghums.

Producers would be required to retire 20 per cent of their feed grain land to conservation uses to become eligible for price supports. In return for retiring this land, they would receive 60 per cent of the support price for the amount they normally would have produced on this retired land.

Rep. Ancher Nelsen, R-Minn., said he would prefer to see a program under which a percentage of feed grain lands would be retired from production and the farmers would receive payments-in-kind from present government stocks to compensate them.

"We have got to cut back production," Nelsen said. "I favor doing what we can to help the farmer. But I would prefer the payment-in-kind approach."

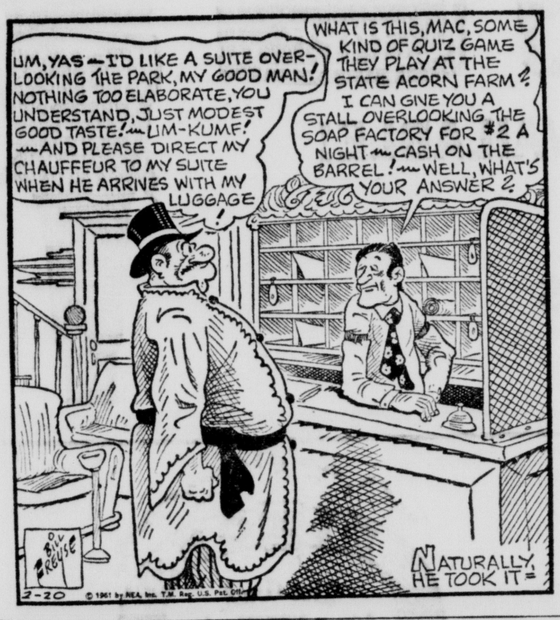
Rep. Odin Langen, R-Minn., said he strongly questions some details of the Kennedy proposal but agrees with its over-all principles—voluntary participation, reduced production in return for a higher price and acreage reserve payments for the idled land.

Restrictive Clause Not Signed by Rusk

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk did not sign a restrictive convenant normally required with the purchase of a home in Washington's Spring Valley subdivision.

A State Department spokesman explained that the Georgia-born Rusk objects to any kind of restriction based on race or cread.

The normal clause required by the W. C. & A. N. Miller Development Co. bars resale of the house to Negroes or "any person of the Semitic race, blood or origin."



"Give me your frank opinion—just as if our friendship didn't matter!"

"Ever notice how much Shultz looks like a lion with that fur piece on?"

"Here I convince Mom you're so intelligent and you up and tell her you think the man should run the home!"
